

Barks N Bits

with our favorite Jack Russel Terrier... Bella & Miss Maybelline!

I Want Out NOW....

The BB Break (as I like to call it) was short-lived. She went back to her house and things went back to normal here. I am now Miss Maybelline's entertainment again and my naps aren't lasting as long. C'est la vie. (Yes, I know a little French...a little.)

Since BB left, it has gotten COLD! And not just your regular, run of the mill, I hate winter so I'll complain cause it's cold, cold. I mean the "If you leave me outside longer than two minutes I'm small and I'll die" kind of cold.

Changed My Mind, Let Me Back In!!

It has been snowing and below zero with the windchill at negative 40! This make is VERY hard to concentrate and do your business outside. Trust me on this one. The way I work it is I wait until I just cannot wait any longer...not one minute. I just have to hope the people are paying attention when I finally decide to go. There have been a couple of close calls. I definitely make it quick. I think my record is like 10 seconds out and back in.

Miss Maybelline, on the other hand, still thinks she can take her time. (This is her first winter.) She wanders around and sniffs the snow, noses around the shrubs...I'm already at the door saying, "she's on her own!" She'll learn. Thank God the people are more patient with her than I am.

Taking care of business (quickly),

Bella
