

Barks N Bits

with our favorite Jack Russel Terrier... Bella & Miss Maybelline!

Chuck the Chicken

This month I want to introduce you to Chuck. Chuck is a chicken (a rooster.) I am convinced, however, that Chuck thinks he is a dog. This seems very funny to me because he looks nothing like a dog. But, I guess he doesn't know that because there are no mirrors in the barn.

Chuck hangs around with Duke and Freckles outside most of the day. When they bark, he crows. It is kind of annoying. He has no sense of chicken etiquette or appropriate crowing habits.

I do get a chuckle when he puts Miss Maybelline in her place. She wants to aggravate him like she does me and he is quick to give her a "flogging." I'm sure he doesn't realize this is a 100% "chicken thing." It works for him, though. She leaves him alone.

Maybe I should ask him to teach me how to do some flogging. Heck, if Chuck can act like a dog, why couldn't I get a few chicken moves down? (At least the ones that can work to my benefit.....)

Learning the chicken dance..... Bella 